NO FEAR OF OPEN DISCUSSION.

The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the followng statement from its Washington Headquarters.

"A dispatch from London quotes Rev. A. E. Garvie, of the Congregational Union, as declaring that he will come to the United States and travel 10,000 miles on apropaganda mission in which he will 'get at the ear of the nation by speaking in churches, universities and colleges.' The dispatch further conveys the information that a great extension of Brtish propoganda work in the United States has been undertaken and that both Sir Edward Carson and Ambassador Geddes are favorable to the plan.

"Propaganda work of this or any other kind conducted by responsible persons in the open and in a lawful and orderly manner will receive respectful consideration from the people of America. While our constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech and of the press was designed as an assurance of full liberty to our own citizens, in the practical operation of that guarantee there will be no restriction upon free speech and free publication by citizens of other nations, provided no wrong is attempted against the government and people of the United States. Let Britain send her propagandists. Let them talk in churches and colleges, on street corners or elsewhere, as suits their pleasure. If American propagandists are not numerous ecough and talented enough to hold their own in any contest of intellects, then British propaganda ought to and will preval.

'Against open propaganda there will be little protest. The sort of propaganda which has aroused the ire of many Americans is the secret deceptive, insidious sort that operates covertly through the pages of periodicals controlled in some mysterious way by foreign influence. Whether certain large American publicans have been purchased by foreign capital, or subsidized or converted by reason to the foreign way of thinking, is matter that has caused deep concern to patriotic Americans who believe in American institutions and hope for the perpetuation of American independence.

"Concernng open propaganda, there need be not the slightest fear. If America cannot be saved from that sort of attack, it is not worth saving. But secret propaganda is as dangerous as was the massive horse, with its secreted soldier, which the Greek induced the Trojans to draw with the walls of their fortfication.

"Rev. Dr. Garvie will meet a cordial welcome when he comes to America and will be accorded treatment as courteous as his conduct deserves. He will be welcomed to America pulpits and rostrums and listened to attentively by American audiences with the hope that he may have something to say that will be enlightening to the good people of the United States. He will find, however, that American pulpits and American colleges have some pretty effective pro-American speakers, and if he will consent to be an occasional member of American audiences he may learn something that will be interesting and instructive as well as inspiring.

LOWDEN'S COST STATEMENTS.

Standing out clearly before the voters of this country is the businesslike statement of Gov. Lowden's campaign expenditures. As compared with those made by other candidates, his statement is the cleanest and fullest, says the Danville Commercial News. The reason is plain.

In the first place Gov. Lowden is a business man who thoroughly understands and appreciates the application of business methods. He has produced for the senatorial investigating committee, just as he promised to do when Senaor Borah suggested a Senate probe, his entire set of books, vouchers and accounts He did not offer any round number amounts to the committee. He showed to the last penny what he had spent.

Nor did Gov. Lowden seek to evade a question. He met all the issues raised. He did not say "about this much or that" was spent in a state nor seek to minimize his costs. Neither he nor his representatives took the position that they "did not know," that they "could not remember." They knew and now the senate committee knows.

Another thing Gov. Lowden insisted that contributions to his campaign fund stop. He checked contributions when they had reached $35,000 and the amount was reported to him. He said he would pay his own way in campaigning honestly for the Republican nomnator for the presidency.

These things establish the governor of Illinois as an upstanding American, a business man who counts the cost for himself or for what he represents. As President of the United States, Lowden would know, just as he knows in his own state, what the cost of givernment is, would have the advantage of a business approach to the perplexing problems of governmental upkeep.

WHO IS DAVIS?

We have heard little, relatively speaking, about candidates for the Democratic nomination, possibly because of whatseems to have been a waiting policy among Democratic leaders. But a good deal is being printed just now about John W. Davis. "Who is Davis?" asked the British press when the present Ambassador to the Court of St. James was appointed, and thesame question has been asked on this side of the Atlantic since the New York Times proposed Mr. Davis as a candidate for the Democratic nomination. The answers contributed by both Republican and Democrats seem to show that John W. Davis is an accomplished lawyer, legislator and diplomat.

James M. Beck, lawyer and Republican, compares John W. Davis with Erskine and Judah P. Benjamin in his power of compact and lucide statement. Mark Sullivan says that when Mr. Davis was Solicitor General the Justices of the Supreme Court regarded his as one of the two or three best intellects thatcame before them in recent years. Martin W. Littleton, Democrat, says that when Mr. Davis was with him on the House Judiciary Committee he was "conservative enough to prefer vindicated experience to problematical experment" and "radical enough to search for the virtue and promise of a new proposal." Whether such a man of balanced mind, who, according to Mark Sullivan, "brings an invigorating breeze of statesmanship and lofty issues," would appeal to the masses of Democrats, as compared with the candidates aready in the field, is uncertain, but he seems to please a conservative element, including men who are quoted as saying, "let us nominate a clean candidate on a clean platform" even it should be necessary to "take a clean licking."

Chicago is the center of the universe this week. Not only are the eyes of the United States turned upon the Republican National Convention now convening in that city, but likewise from all over the world the eyes of the leading statesmen are watching the proceedings with the greatest interest. The man named at Chicago will be more than a national character; the allied nations will want to know his attitude on the league of nations.

Europe owes us ten billion dollars and offers us a partnership. I never heard of a man putting himself in the hands of his debtors. The League of Nations gives us one vote and our debtors eight in determining what to do with what we have.—Senator Johnson.

In the early Christian era butter was regarded as a medicine. Among the Romans the use of butter distinguished the rich from the poor. We have returned to the Roman idea and are rapidly approaching the early Christian.

Germany refused to accept 208 tons of American butter because the price was too high. So itwas shipped back home—and we'll probably be content to pay a little extra for it because it is imported.

What this country needs is more freight cars, but what it will get will be more pleasure cars.

The profiteer appears to have monopolized the big end of the horn of plenty.

Economy and Christianity have this feature in common—both are preached more than they are practiced.

Death of Goethe.

When the spirit of Johann von Goethe passed away, March 22, 1832, all Europe took note of the event and pondered on his last words: "Let the Light Enter." He was venerable with age and honors, a wise, many-sided mind, and the greatest poet of Germany. Marck said of him that what he lived was more beautiful than what he wrote; and his life, amid all its weakness and all its sorrows, presents a picture of certain grandeur of soul which cannot be contemplated unmoved.

Property Owners and tenants

West Penn lighting salesmen are canvassing Charleroi this week and if your house is along the company's lines they will see you and give you opportunity to sign up for electric service. They will explain rates and put you in touch with local wiring contractors who are making special prices during the campaign.

The Low Cost of House Wiring Will Surprise You

It's unnecessary to tell you how CLEAN and CONVENIENT and SAFE electricity is; you know that. If you have put off securing this service because you imagined the cost would be too much for your pocketbook, don't delay any longer. Sign a contract when the solicitor calls and arrange to have the wiring done at your convenience.

A Single Outlet Can Be Had at a Slight Outlay

Many families who do not own their own homes are securing electricity by this plan. One outlet permits the use of an electric washer, iron, ironing machine or other device. And when you move you can take the installation with you.

TROUBLES FROM MY AGE

Mrs. Baney tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her Through the Change of Middle Life.

Rochester, Ind.—"My troubles were from my age and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully. I took doctor's medicine and other patent medicine but the Vegetable Compound has helped my nerves more than anything I have ever taken. I am thankful to the one who recommended it to me and will surely do my part in telling others what the medicine has done for me." —Mrs. LETTIE BANEY, 498 East 9th St., Rochester, Indiana.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women and let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carry them safely through this crisis as it did Mrs. Baney.

MAY TREAT COAL FOR OIL SUPPLY

Declaring that the increased consumption of oil and gasoline in this country will necessitate the finding of additional sources of supply Dr. Geo. W. Ashley, chief of the Topgoraphic and Geological Survey in the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs last week predicted that the next ten years will see a revolution in the use of raw coal and that oil shales will be used extensively in oil recovery. He said that by proper treatment of one hundred million tons of the one hundred and eighty million tons of bituminous coal mined in Pennsylvanna each year, the oil supply of this state could be increased by over one billion gallons.

Dr. Ashley also reported that the bureau, anticipating the future need no information regarding the state's possible supply of oil shales, has engaged in a study of that subject and has already made examinations of over 100 black shales for various parts of the state.

MONESSEN IN RACE FOR LEAGUE PENNANT

The Monessen High school base ball team won the right to play in the finals for the W. P. I. A. L. championship, when they defeated the Wilkinsburg High by a score of 4 to 3 on Tech field, Pittsburg on Monday afternoon. Owing to the defeat of Allegheny High by Westinghouse High in the city section of the league which makes the two teams a tie for first place in that division, another game is necessary to decide the winner. This game will be played on Friday next and then Monessen will have an opportunity to play the winner for the championship.

A large number of Monessen people went to Pittsburg Monday afternoon to witness the game and were rewarded by seeing their favorites triumph over their opponents. Monessen took the ead and was never headed. The Monessen players were much smaller than their opponents, but they are up on "inside" baseball, which accounts for their success. When the final game is played another large contingent of Monessen citizens will attend the game.

VERDICT IS GIVEN FOR LARGE AMOUNT

What is probably the largest verdict ever rendered by a jury in common pleas court in Washington county was given Monday afternoon in the suit of the United Copper company, for use of Franklin M. Potts against the Pittsburg & New York Coal company. The defendant company was not represented. The plaintiff put in its case and it was then submitted to the ujry. The verdict was for 496,599.20, with interest from June 30, 1910, making a total of 763,355.73.

The claim involved moneys alleged paid out in taking up options and promoting coal purchases in the East and West Finley sections of the county. An affidavit of defense was filed, but counsel filing that made no appearance when the case was called on Monday. It is understood that the same parties interested in the plaintiff firm are interested in the defendant firm.

SUCCESS IN MARRIED LIFE

To Insure It, Says Court Official, Each Should Be a Partner, as In Business Enterprise.

A wide experience with husbands and wives has enabled Mrs. Julia L. McGuire of the Chicago court of domestic relations to formulate these principles which she gives in People's Magazine.

"It can all be summed up in about the same way textbooks on business tell one to sum up the proposition of going into business partnership:

"1. Know your partner. Study him—or her—under trying circumstances as well as when things are going well.

"2. Be sure that you and your partner agree in your purposes and ambitions. Compare notes with each other and find out whether you have the same tastes and hopes for the future. Find out your prospective partner's idea of what to do in prosperity or adversity.

LONG A FAMOUS PLAYHOUSE

Walnut Street Theater, in Philadelphia, to Be Torn Down, Dates From the Year 1809.

The oldest playhouse in America, which is to be replaced in part at least by a modern structure, is the Walnut street theater in Philadelphia, opened in 1809. It has never missed a season in these 111 years.

Edwin Forrest made his first regular appearance here at the age of fourteen, getting his first start through the influential backing of Col. John Swift, at one time mayor of Philadelphia. The play in which Forrest appeared was "Douglas," and in the cast were Wheatley, Mrs. Williams, Joe Jefferson's grandmother, and Warren and Wood, managers of the theater and of the stock company. Warren and Wood considered themselves very unfortunate in the cast of novices they had to deal with and were greatly surprised when Forrest acquitted himself so well that the public expressed a desire for the play's repetition.

The English tragedian, Edmund Kean, appeared at the Walnut in 1821. During the 16 nights of his engagement the receipts ran as high as $1,379, only once falling below $650. In those days this was considered a prodigious sum in theatrical circles.

Beaver Money.

John Jacob Astor introduced the beaver skin as a medium of exchange, and it was not until beaver hats were replaced by the modern felt hat made from rabbit fur that beaver money went out of fashion.

For about 100 years the beaver skin had its fixed value by which the cost of any other article was determined. It is said that the process of making hats from rabbit pelts actually saved beaver from extinction in North America.

Most of the beaver was trapped by Indians, and ambitious white men exerted their wits in separating the red man from his treasures.

If an Indian thought he needed furs to keep warm, he was given a drink of something that made him feel that he wouldn't need an overcoat, after all.—Detroit News.

Many people prosper on ideas that come from without. In a measure these are common property. The really great ventures that make outstanding men are those born within a man and therefore peculiarly his property. When appreciated and acted upon they give him the inside chance that others will covet when they see him beginning to climb. So instead of sitting around moping it's "up to you" to start something. Let your thinker sink deep down into your anatomy and mine the unused possibilities that are rusting out for want of use. And rest assured unexpected possibilities will open up just as soon as you start something.—Exchange.

Missouri Weather.

The frequent rains recently have made us appreciate what an old lady from Arkansas said about us once after a visit up here. When she made up her mind to go home she remarked: "Well, yer see, honey, it's this here-away: In Missouri when it starts to rain it never quits, and when it clouds up the sun never shines, and when it does get clear you never see a cloud again, and when it gets hot it never turns cool, and when it once gets cold it never warms up no more."—Clinton (Mo.) BELIEVE PEAK HAS BEEN REACHED IN FUEL PRICES

Car Shortage Held Responsible for Conditions As They Now Exist

AN IMPROVEMENT IS EXPECTED

Upon the car supply provided the Connellsville coke region rest major responsibility for the present high prices in both coal and coke market. The car shortage at this time is the principal prop for the fuel markets and the inability of the rail systems to provide adequate rolling stock is both restricting production and forcing hard pressed consmers to compete for available tonnage. Conditions now in thecoke regions are such that production could be substantially increased immediately were facilities at hand. The present high market, in fact, would make increased tonnage inevitable but merchant operators due to inability to deliver see a market condition almost the equal of the immediate pre-war period without being able to take advantage of it.

While there are yet few facts to support a lower coke market, the impression appears to be very general that the peak prices for furnace coke was reached at 15, ovens and that the very tight market prevailing during the period of the strike will be materially lessened during the next few weeks. While the car shortage remains acute the supply during the past two weeks has shown a marked improvement and the increased production as a consequence has enabled some consumers to supply their immediate needs and withdraw from the competitive bidding. Other consumers sending representatives into the region have been successful by dealing direct with the merchant operators to secure tonnage at prices considered fancy, but at the same time quite a reduction from the prevailing prices quoted by the brokers.

Should the well founded impression that tht coke market has reached its highest point obtain in the development of the next few weeks, the group of conservative operators will have secured a signal victory. Whilt the market during the strike was rising by leaps and bounds much concern was felt and quotations of 12 were made by some operators, although they were unable to deliver tonnage at any figure.

The opening of the transportation lines, which had been delayed in delivery by the strike, would have had a good effect on the market, but unfortunately the car situation became quite acute and this put a restriction on production. On Saturday the Pennsylvania made placements on the Monongahela Division of 89 per cent for coke cars and from 30 to 35 per cent for coal. The Lake Erie situation is not so favorable, and on Saturday only placed 13 per cent of thecar demand.

The river transportation has taken care of thelarger demands of the Pittsburg mills for fuel, and as a consequence leaves a greater percentage of cars for the coke output. However, the situation is not as encouraging as itmight be.

WILL NOT SUPPORT SPROUL FOR PRESIDENT

A telegram from Chicago says that C. L. V. Acheson, national delegate to the Republican National convention, will not support the candidacy of Gov. Sproul for President, because the recognition of C. E. Carothers as a factor in Wasington county politics. Another objector to the Governor's candidacy is Samuel Vokdain of Delaware county. All of the other delegates from this State will support the Governor.

BIG FEATURES FOR THE CHAUTAUQUA

The dates are June 27—July 3, and first advertising has been distributed by J. N. Staud, one of the two advance men aways sent by the Redpath company to cooperate with the local committee in the advance campaign.

Among the attractions speciaaly recommended by Mr. Staud are Dunbar's Royal Dragoons, a singing band of 18 members scheduled for two concerts on Chautauqua's fifth day; "It Pays to Advertise," a three-act comedy given by nine players: Adrian M. Newans, in monolog and story; the Great Lakes String Quartet. Sir John Foster Fraser of London, England; the New York Opera Singers and Pamahasika's Pets.

A novel offering this season is Detective Harry J. Loose in his talk on crime. As a result of more than 20 years on the Chicago police force he is in a position to detail scores of experiences that back up his assertion that "they never get away." At the conclusion of his talk an opportunity will be given for his audience to examine a large collection of "tools of crime."

The usual morning hour lectures and children's stories and games will be features of the 1920 Chautauqua Official "children's afternoon," however, will be reserved for the closing day, when Prof. Pamahasika presents his trained birds and animals including Prince Tiny, an educated pony.

ARE ATTENDING THE NATIONAL CONVENTION

Among the Washington county visitors attending the Republican National convention now in session at Illinois, are Senator Joseph A. Herron of Monongahela, who was a delegate four years ago; J. V. Clark of Washington; J. Ed. Masters and John J. Oates of Charleroi.

Expect to Finish Road To Bentleyville by Fall

It is stated by those in charge that the resurfacing of that portion of the Bentleyville-Charleroi pike between Oakland Park and the Bentleyville boro line will be completed by fall, providing that all goes well and the present rate of progress is maintained. However, the commencement of the road was held up somewhat on account of the general scarcity of concrete. Much of the labor employed in the construction work is imported. Shacks have been erected in which the men make their temporary home. When the stretch of roadway is completed Charleroi and eBntleyville will be connected by a splendid highway, over half of which will be wholly of reinforced concrete—and the balance of macadam.

At the present time some very rough road is encountered between Nelson stop and Charleroi, but this is under the supervision of the State Highway Deaprtment, which now has a force of men at work making the necessary repairs. It is said that in order to make a good job of the repairing it will be necessary to close this section too for several weeks while the repairing is under way. Should this be the case a detour would have to be made by way of Speers and Clover Hill—a route which is good in dry weather but scarcely passable in a rainy season.

WILL SELL PROPERTIES FOR TAXES NEXT WEEK

Next Monday, unJe 14 County Treasurer R. C. Lutton will begin the sale of properties upon which liens for taxes for the years 1917 and 1918 were entered and which have not since been discharged by payment. There are some 1,800 of these properties in Washington county to be sold under the hammer next week, unless payment of the taxes should be made meanwhile.

It is quite a task to prepare for the large number of sales that the county treasurer is required to handle, as it is necessary to present to the bidders the total amount of taxes due, together with all costs that have accrued and the employes in the treasurer's office have been busy the past few weeks getting things in readiness for the sale. Many of the liens have been entered against properties because of the negligence of the owners in not paying their taxes and thus making it necessary to dispose of the property as provided by law. Owners of real estate cannot be too careful in the matter of keeping their taxes paid up, and it is believed that this year they will be more anxious than ever because of the increased millage and consequent larger abatement allowed for promptness.

MONESSEN MAY SOON HAVE THE LARGER AND BETTER STREET CARS

Council and Board of Trade Agree with Street Car Co. on Details

WILL PASS NEW ORDINANCE

It begins to look as if the people of Monessen will be provided with better street car service in the very near future. Following a meeting of theBoard of Trade of that town, held a month ago at which time fifty members of that body recommended that the development committee aid council in carrying on negotiations with the street car company that would result in provising better street car service, considerabe progress has been made toward that desired end.

The committee went to work and as a result of a joint meeting between the Monessen council the development committee and members of the street car company, held last Friday afternoon, practically every obstacle was removed that stands in the way of admitting the largest and most modern cars into that town. The franchise extension ordinance was taken up section by section, read and discussed and is now in the hands of the committee of council to be acted upon at a meeting to be held soon.

The proposed ordinance removes all obstructiog grades and provides for a loop at the lower end of Monessen and the necessary siding privileges to admit the largecars. In addition to these benefits, the company agrees to pave between the tracks and eighteen inches on either side of the rails at the lower end of the town, thus saving the taxpayers thousands of dollars.

The new cars which the company proposes to install will have a seating capacity of more than sixty persons compared with a capacity of about twenty of the cars now in use. They are said to be large, commodious and comfortable and when the improvements are made the congestion will be greatly relieved and people may travel to and from Monessen with some degree of comfort and safety.

WELL KNOWN SINGER ILL IN HOSPITAL

Walter Vaughan, the well known singer, has been confined to the Cincinnati hospital for the past six weeks, suffering from an attack of rheumatism. A combination of heart trouble and rheumatism has been a source of considerable annoyance to the hospital physicians, it being impossible to administer proper treatment. However a slight improvement in his condition has been noticed.

RIGHT TO PRACTICE IS TAKEN TO COURT

On information made by Dr. C. B. Wood of Monongahela, Medical Director of Washington county, a warrant was served on Monday on Dr. M. D. Greenfield, chiropractor, who has offices in the Might building. The information charges that Dr. Greenfield is practicing his profession without a license issued by the state of Ptnnsylvania and contrary to the act of Assembly of June 3, 1911, the information being made under what is known as the Physician and Surgeon's Act. Dr. Greenfield at once furnished bail in the sum of $1.000 for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Paul R. Nutt, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock but later waived a hearing for court. A similar information was made against a chiropractor in Monongahela a few weeks ago on the same charge. He gave bail for his appearance before court.

Dr. Greenfield has been practicing in Charleroi for about two years, with the exception of the time he spent in France with the A. E. F. Since coming to Charleroi he has built up a large practice and lately has required the assistance of an assistant. He is a graduate of the Palmer School of Chiropractic of Davenport, Ia., and on Monday expressed himself as not being at all alarmed over the outcome of the proceedings.
